IPLI Graduates

"Great Principals
Great Schools"

Brittany Greene, Principal
Spencer Elementary, Spencer-
Owen Schools

I have been involved with IPLI since Cohort 3, and I firmly believe that it is the best professional development I have ever had. The networking and learning that occurs with IPLI has guided my practice as an administrator, and my school, staff and students have benefited greatly from the action research conducted with IPLI. It has transformed me as a leader, and my path as an elementary principal would not have been the same without the people and experiences in IPLI. There is nothing like it anywhere else, and I am grateful to be a part of such a prestigious organization.

Jaime Carroll, Principal
Wayne Center Elementary
East Nobel Schools

As a graduate of Cohort 7 and now a mentor, I am incredibly proud of my IPLI team's progress this year, particularly in their understanding and utilization of the AR process and PCM model. They have embraced these tools wholeheartedly and have demonstrated a deep appreciation for how they can enhance their teaching practices and student outcomes. Seeing their enthusiasm and dedication to professional growth has been inspiring, and I am confident they will continue to excel in their educator roles. I am excited to see how they will continue to grow and develop in the future.

Greg Butler, Principal
Hawthorne Elementary, Warren
Township Schools, Indianapolis

"IPLI Cohort 8 was an amazing collaborative experience. To this day, I continue to use the knowledge I gained in IPLI to support my Hawthorne Elementary and Warren Township. Based on my experience, I have recruited a number of other leaders to join."

Taria Taylor, Director of Curriculum & Instruction,
Hoover Schrum Memorial School

Participating in the Indiana Principal Leadership Institute (Cohort 8) has truly transformed my career as an instructional leader. The program has significantly enhanced my skills, equipping me with the tools and strategies needed to effectively lead my school and improve student outcomes. IPLI offers top-notch professional development with experts in the field of education, fostering a collaborative and inspiring learning environment.

Ryan Jenkins, Principal
Central Elementary, South
Vermillion Schools

IPLI was an invaluable experience for me, both professionally and personally. Course programming the first year of Cohort 7 had me intentionally focus on my personal wellbeing. The second year's focus was on bettering my school. I found these deep dives rewarding on both levels. Our in-person sessions featured amazing and inspiring guest speakers - and gave participants the chance to network with fellow administrators. I value the relationships I made and am still in touch with colleagues that I met during this time. After completing my initial two year cohort, I made the choice to continue on for several more years in the extended cohorts. I would encourage any administrator to experience IPLI. "

Veronica Eskew, Ed.S., School Leader
East Chicago Urban Enterprise
Academy
East Chicago Schools

As a proud graduate of IPLI, Cohort 4, I am deeply grateful for the professional opportunities provided to learn alongside fellow administrators. Together, we explored strategies to enhance our effectiveness as educational leaders while fostering positive relationships within a supportive network for coaching and guidance.

The mission of the Indiana Principal Leadership Institute is to provide building-level principals with the skills and tools needed to increase their personal leadership capacities and their schools' learning capacities.

IPLI Partners and Supporters

Lawrence Township Schools - Dr. Shawn Smith, Superintendent

"Principals are the key to successful schools. It is imperative that we commit to growth and development of each Principal in our State. This investment will lead to success for our students and faculty.

IPLI is the key to the success of Principals. The Indiana Principal Leadership Institute is an example of our State's EXCELLENCE. Thank you IPLI!"

Marzano Research Inc. - Dr. Phil Warrick

School leadership requires principals to operate successfully as leaders of learning. The commitment of the state of Indiana to the Indiana Principals Leadership Institute is the single best approach to developing instructional leadership capacity that I have seen nation-wide. In this pursuit, IPLI is successfully addressing the two critical aspects of leadership. First, the personal attributes of school leaders and their ability to successfully interact with the people they lead. And second, the integrity of school leaders to understand and lead their schools in the right work that focuses on creating highly reliable schools that successfully serve their communities.

The Next Element - Dr. Nate Regier

"I am a professional trainer, coach, and consultant. My company's mission is to facilitate lasting behavior change with our clients. In my opinion, IPLI represents the best of the best in terms of continuing education and future-skilling for educators. The cohort model with peer learning, action research, and evidence-based methodologies puts it all together in a powerful program that creates lasting change, personal transformation, and ultimately benefits students and communities. I am delighted to be one of the SMEs who contribute to IPLI, and consider it an honor to be part of this high-caliber program."

Indiana Association of School Principals - Dr. Todd Bess

"IPLI serves as an anchor for leaders as they seek to grow their own leadership skills, and as they grow leadership capacity within the school building. The IPLI model allows principals to collaborate and find resources through national and local speakers and demonstrates how sustained and integrated leadership development must occur. IASP is a proud partner with IPLI, and together, we can contribute to the leadership fabric that is now ingrained across Indiana. Indiana is fortunate to have the support of the Indiana General Assembly as they recognize that strong leadership creates hope for our students.

Indiana Association of Public School Superintendents -Dr. Bob Taylor

"IAPSS appreciates the focus, engagement, and professional development that IPLI provides Indiana building-level educational leaders. IPLI is dedicated to ensuring Indiana Principals receive the most relevant and impactful training by designed innovative content and delivering the highest quality programming. All are provided with research-based strategies to enhance their leadership skills and thus increase their effectiveness and positive impact. IAPSS is highly grateful for the efforts and influence of IPLI on future superintendents.
